With returns from 250 counties, 142 of which were complete, tabulated by the Texas election bureau, Governor Sterling led by 720 votes, At that time the vote was 457,537 for Sterling and 456,817 for Mrs. Ferguson.

Bitter Contest.

Nothing like it ever had happened in Texas politics. Accustomed to bitter contests for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, tantamount to election, many veteran observers had anticipated a close cace but few had expected what amounted to a deadlock. As hours passed foll ag the close of the polls and the lear passed from one contestant to the o.her enormous crowds watched bulletin boards and eagerly snatched up extra editions of meagerly snatched to control the meagerly snatched to control the meagerly snatched to the chiral snatural states and overturned extra doverturned the clive and overturned the city during the night and overturned.

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio, Aug. 28.—

(P)—A 3-year-old boy, half-starved, speechless and nude, was rescued last night from a dark, dingy room in which, the woman with whom he lived said, he was placed "to keep him out of trouble."

Officers said they learned the child had not been bathed in more than a year. He was so dirty, they said, the color of his skin could be determined only with difficulty.

Mrs. Sylvester Hochter, at whose home he was found, told authorities the boy. Loren, was her husband's.

The child, his body so emaciated he weighed no more than a normal 1-year-old child, was allowed to play in the sunshine today.

Textile Mills Add Hundreds to Pay Rolls in Georgia.

MACON. Ga., Aug. 28 .- (P)-As cotton prices advanced sharply during the past week textile mills in this territory stepped up production giving jobs to hundreds of laid off employes and increasing the working hours of others, while some plants have been forced to run overtime. Increased demand for textiles was attributed by mill officials both to normal seasonal business and to better economic conditions.

The Bibb Manufacturing Company Dies in Sanitarium which normally employes 6,000 operatives here and at Columbus and Porterdale, reported many employee who have been without work were put back in the mills during the week. The Willingham Cotton Mills, running on half time, provided full time employment for its 400 workers.

The Atlantic Cotton Mills increased working hours for its 250 operatives from 30 to 60 hours a week.

The Southland Knitting Mills, which returned to a full-time schedule April 1 with 150 employes, is now running overtime. The Adams Manufacturing Company recently added a number of em-ployes to its pay roll— The Happ Brothers Company re-turned to a full-time schedule several weeks ago and last week began over-time operations.

In the convention at Denver last week a dietary method of preserving youth was described before the society's biological division by Professor Henry C. Sherman, of Columbia University. The scientists were informed by Professor Sherman that the hope for a longer youth can be realized through utilization of Vitamin G, a food factor composed of a group of two or more chemical substances rather than a single chemical entity.

Enrichment of the diet with Vitamin G. Professor Sherman said, "tends to the enhancement of positive, or buoyant health; to the preservation of the characteristics of youth, and the prolongation of the prime of life."

Such a discovery is of inestimable value to childhood. It increases the very capability of a young person to be happy, to enjoy life. One reason why you are hard up is because 22 cents of every dollar you get goes for taxes. Perhaps you don't hand the tax gatherer $22 of each $100 you earn, but you pay that much in some way. Much of his anti-prohibition speech at Senjury of the speech at Senjur

Here is the way it was done. During and immediately after the war, the alltes borrowed ten billion dollars from our government. The government raised the money by selling interest bearing bonds to American citizens. The allies were unable to pay their debt in a lump sum, so they were given 62 years in which to square the account. Interest for that period, added to the principal, made the total a little over 22 billion. They

They have in fact paid $1,676,000,000. But they did not take one cent of that from the pockets of their taxpayers.

Germany.

Did it then come out of the pockets of Germany's taxpayers? Not Germany borrowed that money, and as much again, where did the banks get the money? They raised it by selling ds to American citizens—and taking a fat commission for the service.

Thus you see American citizens furnished the money which seems which swings into its fourth from American banks:

But that isn't all of the story. Our government must pay interest on the bonds sold to its citizens. And it has paid almost two and one-half billion dollars—more than twice as much as it has received from the allies. Where did it get the extra money? By taxing its citizens—taxing them to get the money to pay them.

Now it is proposed that America cancel the debt of the allies. But if the allies don't pay, who will furnish our government the money to repay American citizens the ten billion dollars they loaned to the allies? Why, the American taxpayer. You.

Why cancel the debts? The theory is that European taxpayers, if relieved of that burden, will buy more American goods. But will you buy more American goods if you are forced to assume t debt? Why increase a foreigner's purchasing power by decreas-

Health Talks

WHEN NEURALGIA MAKES A NOISE LIKE APPENDICITIS.

In a paper read before the Buffalo Academy of Medicine, Dr. John B. Carnett: professor of surgery in the medical school of the U. of P.. said:
"In patients referred to me for operation for chronic appendicitis 1 find the pain and tenderness in the lower right abdominal angelgrant are due to right abdominal quadrant are due to neuralgia in 98 per cent of the patients and in the other 2 per cent 1 find a duodenal ulcer, stone in the kidney or some similar lesion. I, therefore, have given up operations for chronic appendicitis and cure the low-right rided periods by necessful manner under the Ellis health law.

Article III of the reorganization bill as originally drawn reads as follows:

"A department of public health is fore, nave given up operations to chronic appendicitis and cure the low-er right-sided pains by non-operative measures directed toward the under-lying spinal nerve lesion causing the neuralgia. Of the patients sent to me for a hurry-up operation for acute appendicitis, I find in over half of them that the trouble is neuralgic and

It always has seemed rather a gamble in which our modern brass surgeous have too eagerly indulged.

A further observation by the same authority is worthy of broadcasting:

"The acute toxemia of tonsillitis, cold or other infection is responsible directly for fever, pulse hurry and leucocytosis, and indirectly its induced acute neuralgia causes lower right abdominal pain and tenderness, with vomiting. The symptoms enumerated constitute the usual textbook picture of acute appendicitis and that they are due to acute neuralgia of the abdominal wall can only be determined by applying the tests for neuralgia. In any doubtful case I anesthetize the right eleventh and twelfth intercostal and first lumbar nerves with novoappendiceal tenderness."

We need not attempt to interpret the scandalous medicalese in this. The lay reader will get the gist of it, namely, that intercostal neuralgia due to tonsillitis may make a noise so like appendicitis that a hurry-up operation may be perpetrated if there is a small be appointed from a list of the same and the same an ation may be perpetrated if there happens to be a brass surgeon at hand. Intercostal neuralgia may closely resemble the pain of gallstone colic. Dr. Carnett declares that the pain in the region of the right shoulder blade. regarded the world over as indicative of gall-bladder inflammation, is always due to intercostal neuralgia in his experience. He declares that too ways due to intercostal neuraliza in bis experience. He declares that too many gall gladders are being unnec-essarily removed in the futile expec-tation of curing pain and tenderness which is actually due to neuralgia in nates in tubes or ovaries.

In the hands of charlatans who run irrigation plants or colon filling sta-tions, a great many gullible victims of intercostal neuralgia are subjected to endless and vicious "treatment" for a colitis which does not exist, further than the mechanical irritation set up by the vicious "treatment." This is one of the new self-perpetuating lines of business in which the victims seem to like being humbugged and to resent being enlightened.

OPEN LETTER to The Honorable

ROY D. CHAPIN

Secretary of Commerce

SIR:

In answer to the appeal you have made to American business and business men for courage, foresight and faith in this Country and its future, I am happy to inform you of a decision which may help to "turn the tide in the right direction."

Our Company has, today, issued instructions to its Purchasing Department to buy immediately four million five hundred thousand dollars worth of raw materials and supplies for use the balance of this year. And, in addition, wherever possible at present prices, contracts are to be placed covering all our requirements for the entire year of 1933, such contracts to be based upon an anticipated business increase of 25% over our 1932 requirements.

In taking this step we are motivated by the desire to sell our products by helping to increase general business activity; also, by the desire to take advantage of current prices of raw materials, many of which are the lowest in our 55 years of business history.

Coming in advance of the conference of business and industrial leaders whom the President has called to convene this Friday, it is my hope and that of my associates that this letter will help to show that American business is ready to prove by action instead of word that it has the courage, foresight and faith for which you appeal.

Respectfully,

Lowndes county jury commissioners have completed the revision of the jury box, it being estimated that there are 800 citizens now eligible for jury duty in the county.

Tax Rate Reduced.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 28.—The Lowndes county tax millage for the year has been set by the county commissioners at 12 mills, a reduction from 14 mills levied heretofore over a eriod of about 10 years.

May Collect Taxes.

WAYCROSS. Ga.. Aug. 28.—
Judge M. D. Dickerson, of the Waycross superior court circuit, Saturday dissolved a restraining order granted by Judge W. R. Smith, of the Alapaha circuit, restraining the city of Waycross from collecting street taxes. The petition for an injunction is pending and probably will be heard next Saturday, but the city is now free to proceed as has been its plan.

Succumbs to Injuries.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 28.—(P)—Alton Evans, 24, of Cochran, died in a Macon hospital late last night from injuries he received in an automobile accident near Cochran July 2. Evans was riding in an automobile which collided with a truck. He had moved to Cochran from Eastman, Ga., only a few weeks before the accident. He is survived by his wife.

Burned in Fire.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 28.—(P)— Vivian Smith was severely burned on the upper part of the body and on his arms early this morning when his home in Lynmore Place, a suburb, was destroyed by fire.

W. M. U. Meets.
The Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held its monthly business meeting at the annex last Monday afternoon. Each circle reported an interesting program and good attendance at the August meeting.

A letter from Mrs. J. H. Alford, vice president of the northeast division, gave September 27-28 as dates of the annual meeting of this division. The W. M. U. of the First Baptist church, Toccoa, will have the meeting this vector of the service of the ser demonstrations, fertilizer demonstrations, variety tests, corn and cotton plots and many other things of interest to those interested in better farming methods.

There will be guessing contests for the nearest correct yields of a number of plots, for which cash prizes will be given to the winners. There will be a number of visitors and baptist church, Toccoa, will have the meeting this year, and plans were meeting this year.

FOR FRED H. ABBOT

MACON, Ga., Aug. 28.—(P)—William Franklin Langley, 21-year-old grocer's clerk, was shot to death in his home today and police said relatives laid the death to a game of "cowboy" between William and his brother. Carl H. Langley, 19.

The two youths and their sister, Mrs. Raymond Brewer, were in a room in their home, the boys reading a story. As Carl twirled a pistol about his finger the gun was discharged and William was shot through the temple.

The boys' mother, who was at home when the shooting occurred, said Carl told her he "didn't know the pistol was loaded."

Police held Carl on a technical charge in connection with the slaying pending an inquest tomorrow.

The Langley family moved here five years ago from Lawrenceville. Ga. The boys' father died about 13 years ago.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Aug 28.—(P)—The body of Fred H. Abbott, secretary of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce, who died Saturday in Atlanta, will be brought to his home here Monday for interment. Final arrangement for interment. Final arrangem

Many a bright young man could stand a little polish.

"Forget that question, Bess!" Venters cried, in a passion of her and anger at himself. "But tell me-I know but I want to hear you say so—you couldn't help yourself?"

Oh. no," the girl said bitterly

Bess started nervously the next morning when she saw Ven-ters take his rifle. "Will you be gone long?" she asked wistfully. "I'm going to look over the valley," he replied. "Oon't worry. Whitie will guard you."

Rabbits and quail scattered before him as he strode dow the sloping terrace, and as he approached the cottonwood belt, finding a considerable stream of water, he stopped in amazement. "Beavers, by all that's lucky. How did they

OAK MOUNTAIN SPRINGS, Ga., Aug. 28 .- (By Mail.) Here, where all the world is quiet, except for the cackling of some hens on a distant hill and the rustle of the wind through the trees and flowers, I have discovered that Dick Merriwell is

I had thought that he was gone; that no longer would the car drive up to the park and permit him to pitch the winning inning; that no longer would he arrive in the nick of time, rushing into the lineup to kick the goal that wins the game.

But he still lives. He is known by another name now, Lefty Locke—and he lives through a lot of stories—Lefty of the Big Leagues—Lefty o' the Bush—Lefty o' the Blue Stockings—Lefty o' the Training Camp—what a great time it's going to be meeting Dick Merriwell again, even though he may be parading under the name of Lefty Locke.

They are all from the same nattern—the modest home.

They are all from the same pattern—the modest, honest, unassuming youngster-the villain who dopes his lemonadeturns his girl against him-tries to place the onus of a theft on his honest name-attempts to have him lose the gameall to no avail, although at times it looks rather bad for Lefty

It was always something of a mystery to me why parents tried to keep the Merriwell books from their sons and thrust into their hands "better literature." There is time later for that. And no literature so exalts virtue and honesty as does the Merriwell type. Listen, as Lefty Locke faces a mob:

"It was as if a cold, wet sponge, clarifying his vision, had been drawn across his brain. Our hero felt there could be but one end to the encounter and yet he was not afraid. He eyed the semi-circle of angry faces calmly, coolly, appraisingly."

Grand stuff. Just like our hero should act. And when Bert Elgin, the villain in the book, finds that our hero is interested in Janet Harting, it reads:

"He had prided himself on having obtained the insid track with the most fascinating girl he had ever seen only t discover that the man he hated with every fiber of his bein seemed to have the inside track.
"Confound him," he cried, crushing the letter between his fingers, "I can't seem to get away from him. I'll beat him yet. I'll put him out of the running or I'm a dub." And when, in the end, he is about to conquer all the evil forces against him; when he glances to the packed stands to see the tiny handkerchief which Janet is waving, the book "Our hero hesitated a second, his face cool and impenetrable, the muscles of his jaw sharply defined. He was scarcely conscious of the turmoil. It sounded far away like breakers on a rocky coast. One more, he said to himself, only one more. I've got to get him.

A REAL CRACKER FAN.

A REAL CRACKER FAN.

Jack Humes, the 13-year-old son of the hotel owner, is a loyal Cracker fan. It is something of a comfort to find someone who asks about the baseball players these days as if they were heroes and not public Neroes who fiddle while the city burns, the baseball part of it, at least.

Jack Humes is especially interested in Duck McKee, the Cracker outfielder who is breaking in with something of a bang in his first try at professional baseball. He still recalls that when Duck McKee was with Columbus he opened the season with a triple. Most of the people in this section are interested in Duck McKee.

He made a great reputation with the Columbus club in the semi-time of the people in the semi-time of the people in the semi-time of the people in the semi-windup to the Jones Clinkstock match George Tragos and Tom Marvin meet in a one-hour match. Humes gets the baseball results each evening by radio and keeps me supplied with information about the Cubs and the Yankees and their progress in winning the pennant. It is quite comforting to find someone who knows immediately just how far each one is ahead and how many games behind each of the remaining seven is. There are still baseball fans left and not a lot of cynics who come to the park to jeer and remain to do just that.

Just when your faithful old commentator was leaving Atlanta for a bit of a rest before the football season begins, in came a delightful young man named Cecil Alexander, who had just returned from Camp Osceola, where Vernon Smith and Ed Hamm were counsellors for H. J. Stegeman, director.

Hamm and Smith were in an accident or not, as someone had reported. The camp was reached by telephone about midnight and Stegeman dragged from his sleep and bed to answer that the reported accident had happened two days before and neither was scratched.

Young Alexander got the hit that won the third and deciding game for Smith's group. So he felt pretty good about it.

the mound to pitch for a House of David team.

For auld lang syne the fan lingered after the game and talked to Old Pete about old days and particularly that gloomy day in October, 1926, at the Yankee stadium when Pete, roused from a gentle slumber in the bullpen, came shambling across the muddy field to strike out Tony Lazzeri with the bases full and clinch the world's series title for the St. Louis Cardinals.

the bases full and clinch the world's series title for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The series was tied at three games each. It was the seventh inning, with the Cardinals leading, 3 to 2. Combs, Meusel and Gehrig were on base. Lazzeri up. Two out. Haines was on the mound. A hit meant ruin for the Cardinals, So they woke up Old Pete in the bullpen and brought him to the firing line. He struck out Lazzeri and the world's championship went westward to St. Louis. And Old Pete forgets how he did it!
Again, there are extenuating circumstances. Pete had pitched and won the second game of the series under wraps. He pitched the sixth game at the Yankee stadium and his victory tied the series at three games each. That was on Saturday. He had no thought that his ancient arm would be called upon the following day to clinch the series for the Cardinals. He had done his part, and more. The series was over for him. So that evening Old Pete put on a celebration. He wandered from one convival party to another and the milkman was on the coaching lines as Old Pete slid for home in the early morning. He was out on the little bench by the left field bleacher wall, making up for lost sleep, when the summons came to save the series. From what he says now it may be that they never did get him thoroughly awakened. That seems to be the only possible explanation. How could a man forget any detail of a stirring situation like that if he was awake and in his right mind?

PETE'S FAIRY TALE.

This from the story that Pete gave to the faithful fan:

"I fed him three low curves around the knees and he fouled them off. Then I took a deep breath and fired Then I took a deep breath and fired Heigho! It must have been two other fellows.

"Three low curves around the knees and he fouled them off," says Alex. Who? Where? When? Not at the Yankee stadium on that dark Sunday afternoon. There was a ball, a called strike and then Lazzeri hit a long foul into the left field stands for the second strike.
"Then I took a deep breath and fired away with my fast ball across his letters."

Thunder and turf! Lazzeri wasn't wearing his letters below his knees that day. Groaning thousands saw him reach vainly across the plate in a deapairing swing at a low curve. Ask Babe Ruth. Ask Earle Combs. Ask Lou Gebrig. But don't ask Lazzeri, because Tony would like to forget what poor Old Pete can't remember.

a Sabbath singles exhibition from Billy Reese, city champion, in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-1.

Grant's shots were so accurate that young Billy, who apparently was not at the top of his game, was kept busy chasing volleys and placements while the crowd applauded. Billy's proneness to hit them into the net did not help his chances any.

WIN DOUBLES.

The brilliant Grant, playing cooly and effectively, paired with Jack Simpson in the doubles match that followed and proceeded to vanquish the team of Reese and Malon Courts, two sets out of three. The action assumed a rapid-fire tempo at times, the net play on both sides being brilliant. Reese and Courts took the first set, 6-3, but Grant, complete master of his own serve, got the lead and he and Simpson carried off the last two sets, 6-4 and 6-2.

The Cotton States players marked time yesterday, but this morning will resume play which extends into late afternoon. AROUND THE CORNER.

No one is ever quite sure as to what lurks around the corner. It may be prosperity—or a punch on the chin.

But one look at the calendar suddenly recalls the fact that football is just around one of the first corners in sight.

With this point in mind there is always the most important query thank where will the best teams be this season?

hand-where will the best teams be this season? There was a football gathering at Los Angeles, which should have a fair answer to this debate. It included Howard Jones, of Southern California; Pop Warner, of Stanford; Bill Ingram, of California; Slip Madigan, of St. Mary's; Mal Stevens, of Yale; Esky Clarke, of Harvard; Phelan of Washington. Phelan, of Washington; Hunk Anderson, of Notre Dame; Dick Hanley, of Northwestern; Alexander, of Georgia Tech, and possibly 25 others who wanted to look at the Olympic games and talk some football on

One Good Bet.

One Good Bet.

The first good bet of the year is the strength of California teams. These include Southern California, Stanford, California University, St. Mary's, Santa Clara and California's southern branch at Los Angeles.

Football prospects must be pretty fair when coaches are willing to admit they are well satisfied with the pink tint upon the general outlook. Howard Jones felt he would have as good a team this fall as he had last year.

Pop Warner thought Stanford might be stronger than in 1931. Bill Ingram felt the same way about California. So this three-cornered whirl should be one of the hottest in west coast history.

Howard Jones admitted he had lost five or six stars, including Shaver, Pinekert, Arbelbide and Johnny Baker. But he believed the replacements were ready to fill any gap—meaning fast young men from 190 to 210 pounds who have already shown him something. Bill Ingram was not quite so optimistic. He had faith in his material, but he has St. Mary's and Santa Clara to face as well as U. S. C. and Stanford. And St. Mary's is Dame, is the most direct of all the coaches.

Hunk was quite willing to admit that he had fine material at hand, both for the line and the backfield, and he was willing to take his chance against a normal run of injuries.

The tip was out that Notre Dame had something like six tackles, most of them just as good as Krause, who is about as good a tackle as any coach would ever want.

You can write it down now that Notre Dame prospects for 1932 loo' a bit better than they did for 1931, when Anderson had to replace such stars as Carideo, Brill, Mullins, O'Connor, Savoldi and a few more.

I have a gen ral idea that Notre Dame will be about as easy to take this next season as Gibraltar.

If you want some excitement, save a day for the Notre Dame-Southern California battle at Los Angeles on December 10. (Which doesn't mean that neither will have been beaten by the time this late contest comes around).

Football Strength.

The present prospects are that football strength will rest more in the middle west this season than it will in the east.

However, Yale has fine prospects if some three or four able forwards make up their student deficiencies.

The Blue has more than its share of good b.cks.

Pittsburgh will be strong—hoping to offset Stanford's annihilation of all eastern teams in other years.

eastern teams in other years.

Cornell looks to be among the leaders, and Columbia won't be far away.

Most of the others are in the doubt-

Most of the others are in the doubtful class, in and out and around about. Maybe, and maybe not.

But the mid-west will be something else. In addition to Notre Dame, Michigan will have one of her strongest teams. Northwestern will be once more at a high peak, Rentner is half a team to start with. Purdue will be among the best. (George Ade kindly notice.)

And that isn't half of it. Bierman, And that isn't half of it. Bierman, the old Tulane coach, is planted at Minnesota with a world of power. Bierman is one of the best coaches I ever saw. He has a great chance.

Doc Spears will do something at Wisconsin. Ohio State has a great quarter in Cramer and a better prospect a shead than the Scarlet and Gray has a smart of the state of known for years, Iowa has a smart director in Ossie Solem, but at this writing Michigan, Northwestern, Purdue and Minnesota should strongest of the conference group.

What about the south? Here the sociation is invited and urged to be guessing takes on something of a blur.

There will hardly be another Tulane team below the old M. and D. line. That was a football team! Tulane loses a flock of stars—and Bierman.

Sociation is invited and urged to be present tonight and help make the movement a success.

Hawaii's Wild Beauty For 'American Madness' Shown in Film at Fox Large crowds attended the opening of the second week of the run of dise," on the screen at the Fox this The noted stage hit, "Bird of Para-'American Madness" at the Rialto week, offers rare and interesting theater Saturday. So enthusiastic was beauty seldom caught by the camera. the comment about this Columbia picture that Manager W. T. Murray felt its moving story barbaric beauty and ture that Manager W. T. Murray felt impelled to extend its run for the second week, and the size and enthusiasm of his Saturday audiences fully justified his decision.

The picture tells the story of the trials and tribulations of a modern American bank during times of depression. It is a timely theme and provides one of the most gripping stories recently put upon the screen. Walter Huston, as the bank president, does a superb piece of acting, while other fine performances are given by Constance Cummings, Kay Johnson, Pat O'Brien and Gavin Gordon.

With a new and exceptional entertaining group of short subjects to round out the program it is probable that another record-breaking week will be enjoyed by the Rialto, as all the thousands who thrilled to the picture last week return for a second view and bring their friends to share in the enjoyment.

Laughton 'Steals Show'

Laughton 'Steals Show'

Set in Hawaii, the film carries within its moving story barbaric beauty and the old theme of heroic love.

Director King Vidor could not have selected a greater Luana than Dolores Del Rio, who, as the tabu daughter of a tropical island king, falls in love of a tropical island mate.

In short, the film is one which you will certainly enjoy. A rather slow comedy feature and a short cartoon film finish up the bill, along with Jimmy Beers playing the huge organ.

—ROY ROBERT. In Under-Ocean Thriller

Holding the center of the stage and stealing the spotlight from Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper, billed as stars in "The Devil and the Deep," feature presentation at the Paramount theater. Charles Laughton. British actor, gives a powerful and convincing performance as the insanely jealous commander. Charles Sturm. The love interest, an affair between Miss Bankhead, as Pauline Sturm, wife of the commander, and Gary Cooper, as the young lieutenant assigned to Sturm's ship, is overshadowed by the jealousy which pervades the entire picture.

The commander, who suspects his beautiful young wife of loving every handsome young officer paying her the slightest attention, gives the impression of geniality and kindliness in public, although he makes his wife's life miserable with physical and mental brutality at home. As the commander craftily watches his wife and as he plans the destruction of a whole submarine crew—his would-be victims including his wife and her lover—Laughton's performance sends cold shivers down the spines of the theatergoers.

The climax of the picture comes In Under-Ocean Thriller

shivers down the spines of the theatergoers.

The climax of the picture comes when the commander has sunk the submarine and, in a final frenzy of rage, attempts to flood the ship and drown himself. Tallulah Bankhead takes advantage of a superior vehicle to give perhaps her best cinema performance. Lovely as always, Miss Bankhead is admirably suited to her part and rises to emotional heights when she screams to the officers of the sunken sub that their commander is a maniac. Feverish activity again characterized the cotton market during the past week and prices advanced rapidly, making new highs almost daily for the movement and season.

The highest levels reached were on the closing day of the week when the October option went to 9.18, a net advance of 167 points for the week. At this price October showed an advance over the low level of the season, reached on June 10, of 405 points or $20.25 a bale.

While a higher stock market exerted a sympathetic influence from time to time the cotton market assumed an independent attitude and was influenced mainly by developments within the market itself, although there can be no denying that the strong upswing was influenced to a considerable extent by general improvement in the business and ecoimprovement in the business and eco-main cause of the advance was infavorable accounts of the condition of the new crop. There has been too much rain which has incrensed weevil activity and caused shedding and other forms of deterioration. The demand for contracts was not only heavy from trade but from speculators as well and there was also much having by the outside was also much buying by the outside public. This persistent buying served easily to absorb the profit-taking as well as a considerable volume of hedge selling without causing more than momentary reactions.

CHANGE IN PSYCHOLOGY

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(A)—An important step in the return to normal business conditions has been taken, said the Guaranty Trust Company today in its monthly survey of business conditions, through the substitution of "hope instead of fear as an active agent in businessmen's minds."

"It is certain that this change in mental attitude is a necessary pre-lude to any recovery. The cessation of hoarding, the will to buy, and the impulse to build follow in natural

The advance in security and commodity prices, the company stated, is probably attributable to a reaction from extreme pessimism.

"There has been no upturn in most branches of industry and trade although some improvement has been reported here and there, principally reported here and there, principally among the smaller enterprises. Numerous reports have come to hand from factories that have stepped up their operations and re-employed considerable numbers of workers.

"Such instances are still far too few to constitute a general unward."

few to constitute a general upward trend; but, with business passing through the dullest season of the year, it was not to be expected that any large-scale expansion would occur and therefore the sporadic increases in volume reported at certain points have been hailed as highly favorable

Senator Wagner Scores Delay in Relief Work

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(P)—Senator Robert F. From the point of view of the mill, adjustment in prices has given opportunity to liquidate stocks, to plan more orderly production and to work the same unhappy net result that prevent sulues. The present spread between today's cotton and cloth prices leaves the same unhappy net result that prevent sulled when cotton was at its lowest. However, in view of the recent business, we believe that from now on there will be fewer sellers except at a better level of prices.

The improvement has been general in all branches of the business, but print cloths, broadcloths and other constructions requiring print yarns have led the procession. Contracts are quoted and are being sold at higher prices than for spots and quick goods—a healthy and desirable condition.

Fancy goods in both heavy and fine yarns, as well as mixtures with rayon and silk, have benefited by the improved condition. Narrow sheeting sales have totaled several times present production; this and the wide sheeting group have been in the poorest condition of any. The larger demand has come from converters, jobbers and bag manufacturers, but there is also improvement of interest on the part of the mechanical trade. Sales of drills and twills have been more scattered, but advancing prices have held firmly. Towels, colored goods and sheets and pillow cases have shared with other groups in the heavy buying, reflecting, we believe, actual needs and limited speculative tendencies.

Wurzburger Captures Favor Of Atlanta as Pleasing Drink

burger was included in that volume.

As far as America is concerned, the history of brewing may be traced to 1620, for it is certain that when the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock they brought with them

By Brownlee & Lively.

The ills of most people are directly caused by what they eat.

The irist and principal cause is over-eating. A great many of the deaths from so-called heart disease can be attributed to a gluttonous appetite and resulting gases of certain foods which are sufficient to bring more pressure on the heart than the heart itself could overcome, with the result the heart stopped.

Another cause for many deaths every year is indigestion. And there are two classes of people who rarely ever die of indigestion—very poor people and farmers.

The first because they rarely get in the over-eating habit and the farmer because he eats more home grown products and drinks more milk—natural cow's milk. This, coupled with the fact that his work requires more action than the swivel chair office man, means that the farmer is a good life insurance risk.

The most important food for all people at all times and places is decreed by the laws of nature and is natural pure unadulterated milk as produced from clean, healthy cows.

Milk like this that hat not been processed will supply the vitamins that build healthy, disease-resisting hodies, and men and women of good health tean withstand better and overcome minor ailments that later on might prove fatal.

Milk reinforces all the rest of the Wurzburger beverage, made by the Atlanta Ice & Bottling Company, and distributed in Atlanta by Marshall & Reynolds, is conceded by the man who takes his over the counter at his favorite soft drink stand to be equally satisfying, whether taken as a cool drink on a hot day, or as a nourishing pick-me-up on a cool day.

Every purchaser of a bottle of Wurzburger is a very important, though indirect, subscriber to one of Atlanta's worthiest institutions—the Albert Steiner cancer ward of the Grady hospital. Each year half of the profits accruing from the sale of Wurzburger beverage is used toward the uprepart of the profits accruing from the sale of Wurzburger beverage is used toward the uprepart of further cancer research work.

For hudreds of years beer has been one of man's favorite beverages, and abounding as it does in saccharine matter, dextrines, proteins and phosphates, it is also a decided health-promoting food.

In recommending Wurzburger as an ideal beverage for general family use, as a deliciously cool drink for picnickers, and for those who go on that long looked-forward-to fishing trip, it is interesting to note that medieval England, ale and beer were the chief items of liquid refreshment during church and college celebrations. "A Booke Howe to Brewe all Sortes of Beere" was licensel at Stationer's Hall in London in 1591, and since the use of hops in the manufacturing of beer seems to have been a German invention and introduced by them into England in 1524, it is likely the formula for brewing Wurzburger bewerage, both retail and wholesale. A telephone call to them—Walnut 2334—at any hour of the day or night, will result in immediate and courteous attention. Orders will be filled quickly and all deliver was included in that volume.

Style by Annette

You'll be wanting a new coat frock for early fall-wear.

And it must be fashioned of one of the attractive new woolens that the cozy fall brings in its train.

It's slimming too! It will give the figure such graceful height. The centre-front buttoned closing is effective too!

The tweeds in the wine-reds are especially smart. You'll also like the plain brown diagonal woolens.

Style No. 781 is designed in sizes 14. 16, 18. 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 1-2 yards of 39-inch material.

Our Large Fashion Magazine will help you economize. It includes styles for the miss, the stout, the matron and adorable modes for the kiddies. Also modern embroidery for the home, lingerie, pajamas, etc.

Price of book 15 cents.

Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin. Wrap coin carefully.

French Officers Slain. PARIS, Aug. 28.—(UP)—A band of sert Moors attacked a mobile French column penetrating Mauretania, kill-ing six French officers and soldiers, the colonies ministry announced to-day. At least 39 Senegalese and French Moors were missing after the Lillian Mae Patterns.

Pattern 2395.

Dame Fashion has been particu larly good to the matron this season as there are so many chic styles that reflect the latest trends, yet achieve a slim silhouette. The model shows would be stunning in satin or crep with the smart cross vestee of contrast. The point details, the beltless bodice, and the graceful sleeves are noteworthy touches.

Pattern 2395 may be ordered only in sizes 16 to 20 and 34 to 44. Size 16 requires 3 5-8 yards 39 inch fabric and 3-8 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Our beautiful 32-page fashion catalog offers you an opportunity to choose delightful morning, afternoon and evening models. Featuring styles personally chosen by Lillian Mae, this catalog is an accurate guide to chic. Lovely lingerie and pajama patterns and adorable kiddie models are included in this fascinating book. Send for your copy today. Price of Catalog, 15 cents.
